Passage 1: The Hidden Treasure

Arjun and his sister Meera loved visiting their grandparents' house in the village. One summer, while playing in the backyard, they discovered an old map inside a wooden box buried under a tree. The map showed a trail leading to a secret spot near the riverbank. Excited, they followed the clues on the map, crossing a small bridge and walking past a giant banyan tree.

After hours of searching, they found a small mound covered with stones. Digging carefully, they uncovered a rusty metal box. Inside it, they found old coins, jewelry, and a letter written by their great-great-grandfather. The letter explained that the treasure was hidden during a time of war to protect it from thieves.

After walking for hours, he found a hidden spring deep inside a cave. Overjoyed, he rushed back and guided the animals to the spring. They were relieved to have water, and all of them thanked Raju for his efforts. The wise old tortoise declared that kindness and determination always lead to great rewards.
